RENAISSANCE REVIEW

Imagine the Look, Create the Dream...

Botox Misconceptions, Clarified...

As you may know, the FDA recently issued a new release regarding its ongoing safety review of Botox. This was prompted in response to complications associated with the management of children with limb spasticities using Botox. This is an UNAPPROVED use of Botox in the United States. The FDA indicated that these patients are often sick and compromised, and doses of more than 20-100 times the typical cosmetic dose per kilogram of body weight were used.

The FDA is NOT advising physicians to stop using Botox Cosmetic. Our physicians stand by Botox Cosmetic's long track record of safety. They feel that when used appropriately by a licensed PHYSICIAN, it offers outstanding results.

The UpLift(TM) Continues...

Pre-Op

Post-Op

Sharon is now 6 weeks after having The UpLift procedure, which was performed with local anesthesia. Her upper neck and jawline were the areas targeted.

An individual consultation is essential to determine if you are a candidate for this new procedure. If you would like to view a video in which Dr. Agarwal explains the procedure and goes through a consultation with Sharon, click below. If you like to watch surgical videos, there is another video highlighting the actual surgical steps.

Try the new Illuminize Peel at the Face Spa

For those of you looking for a superficial chemical peel to give you a healthy glow and radiance, the Illuminize peel is a great option. The key ingredients are Phytic Acid, Mandelic Acid, Malic Acid, Salicylic Acid and Resorcinol. The Illuminize peel is gentle enough to use every two weeks, and there is minimal downtime or irritation.
