RENAISSANCE REVIEW

Imagine the Look, Create the Dream...

10th International Symposium of Facial Plastic Surgery

Dr. Agarwal recently attended the 10th International Symposium of Facial Plastic Surgery. Regardless of the topic (i.e. rhinoplasty, blepharoplasty, endoscopic face-lifts combined with fat transfer, etc...), it was clear that the goals of a facial plastic surgical procedure must dictate the approach and technique.

The concepts of facial deflation and descent were stressed in terms of facial analysis, as well as the importance of utilizing photographs of a patient 20-30 years prior when planning a facial rejuvenation procedure. Concepts that are currently used at The Aesthetic Surgery Center, including volume conservation and replacement with fat repositioning during an endoscopic midface lift and/or fat transfer were highlighted. It was also noted that while injectables and lasers are constantly evolving, there are no significant new revolutionary procedures or products at this time. The procedures/products/services currently offered at The Aesthetic Surgery Center are the state of the art.

New Options for Melasma/Hyperpigmentation

© CrutchfieldDermatology.com

Traditionally, Hydroquinone and Retin-A have been the definitive treatments for hyperpigmentation, or dark discoloration of the skin. There are several new treatments including kojic acid, azelaic acid, licorice extract, and soy based products (like Signature Skin), that have shown efficacy in lightening the skin.

Topical treatment with one of the above creams, with an oral antioxidant such as Heliocare, as well as glycolic or salicylic acid peels performed by an aesthetician offers dramatic improvement of this distressing condition. Our board certified facial plastic surgeons provide medically directed skin care in conjunction with our licensed medical aestheticians.
