Dr. Agarwal explains upper eyelid blepharoplasty in a step by step fashion as he performs Katherine's upper eyelid procedure, awake in the office. Upper eyelid blepharoplasty is one of the most common facial plastic surgical procedures. Education is the key to an informed patient. We hope this video helps to explain how this procedure is done and answer common questions.

WARNING: Video is graphic and depicts actual surgical footage.

Please call 239-594-9100 to schedule your eyelid surgery consultation with one of our plastic surgeons.

As we have begun treating our patients with the Cutera Excel V laser, we have been very happy with the improvements we are seeing in their prominent periorbital veins. The above photo is of one of our patients, before and 1 month after treatment. You can see how the large blue vein in her lower eyelid has been eradicated with the 1064nm Nd-YAG technology.

If you have large blue veins in your lower eyelid region, we have the best non-surgical treatment option for you.

Please call 239-594-9100 to schedule your laser consultation with one of our plastic surgeons.

Unlike other popular body contouring procedures, UltraShape® doesn't require extreme heat or cold to destroy fat. Instead, it harnesses ultrasound waves, which shake the fat cells until the membranes collapse. Then the destroyed fat cell particles are filtered through the liver and digested through the body—just like fat from a meal. Interestingly, this process doesn't harm any of your tissues, blood vessels or nerves, so there's no recovery time. UltraShape® is ideal for those who have stubborn fat deposits along the abdomen, flanks, or thighs that are resistant to diet and exercise. Generally three treatments are needed.

The normal price for 3 Ultrashape® treatments averages $2500 per site. For the months of February and March 2021, take advantage of our discounted price of $2250 per site (includes three sessions). Please call 239-594-9100 to schedule your Ultrashape® appointment with one of our seasoned aestheticians. This special ends March 31, 2021!

For those with oily and blemish-prone skin, Skinceuticals Silymarin CF offers environmental protection against visible skin aging by incorporating Vitamin C into an anti-acne formulation.

Silymarin CF is a vitamin C serum for oily and blemish-prone skin that combines 0.5% silymarin (milk thistle extract), 15% l-ascorbic acid, 0.5% ferulic acid and 0.5% salicylic acid to help prevent oil oxidation that can lead to breakouts, and visible signs of aging. This oil-free formula is clinically demonstrated to reduce oil oxidation by up to 76%, as well as reduce oiliness, refine skin texture, and visibly improve skin clarity and fine lines. Vitamin C is an integral anti-oxidant agent that should be incorporated into your skin care regimen.

During the month of March 2021, enjoy $25 off Silymarin CF. Your skin will thank you. Normal price of Silymarin CF is $165, but until March 31, 2021, you can purchase Silymarin for $140.
