What is the purpose of submandibular gland reduction during an Uplift™ lower face and neck lift?

Submandibular glands lie under the jawline, one on each side of the face. Their purpose is to produce saliva, but there are other major salivary glands such as parotid glands and millions of minor salivary glands in the mouth that also produce saliva. Sometimes, due to genetics and the aging process, the submandibular glands can droop low in the neck or be large. Reducing their size can reduce the bulge below the jawline that aesthetically can be noticeable, without compromising saliva production. The deeper lobe of the gland is still functional and left in place as it does not contribute to the external cosmetic prominence.

The above patient is shown 6 months before and after Dr. Agarwal performed an Uplift™ lower face and neck lift with reduction of submandibular glands, chin augmentation, and revision upper eyelid blepharoplasty surgery on this 48 year old woman. Of note, she also went on to lose 25 lbs after her surgery which contributed to her reduction of fatty volume. One can see a dramatic improvement in her jawline and neck contour as well as more symmetry of her upper eyelids. The chin implant gave her a more balance profile and the submandibular gland reduction reduced the fullness under her jawline. She is thrilled with her improvements!

Not every patient needs submandibular gland reduction. The best way to determine which procedures would be best suited for your face would be through an individual consultation. If you would like to schedule a consultation for this type of procedure, please call us at 239-594-9100.

Stretch Mark and Scar camouflage with NUE technology

We are very excited to introduce the NUE CONCEAL technology to our practice! Whether you are looking to conceal scars/stretch marks for a special occasion or simply want to feel more confident in your own skin, our products offer a discreet and effective solution. We offer a range of shades to match your skin tone and ensure a seamless blend.

Two techniques are used for Scar and Stretch Marks Camouflage:

1. INKLESS METHOD: Dry Needling can help soften scars and help the body produce natural collagen to improve their overall appearance.
2. CAMOUFLAGE METHOD: NUE Conceal Camouflage treatment utilizes micro-pigmentation techniques. This method deposits pigment into the targeted area, blending it with your natural skin tone so the scar is no longer noticeable, just like a permanent concealer.

WHICH METHOD IS BEST FOR YOU?

Your camouflage plan will be tailored especially for your own needs and what is needed for the scars. Some people may require several sessions, however it is always designed per individual basis. Schedule your COMPLIMENTARY CONSULTATION with Ilaria, our Permanent Make-up Artist, to discuss your personalized plan.

HENNA BROW TINTING

This natural method of brow tinting gives the brows a tattoo-like effect with stunning results, giving dimension and shading to your eyebrows. The Henna tinting lasts for up to two weeks on the skin and up to six weeks on the hairs, which gives longer lasting results than regular brow tints. It is perfect for people who have sparse, over-plucked brows or are still recovering from a bad waxing experience, and who want their brows shaped and filled temporarily. It's also a fantastic way to try out a brow shape before committing to semi-permanent makeup. $70 (Includes brow wax/shaping).

Please call 239-594-9100 to schedule your Henna Brow Tinting appointment with one of our licensed medical aestheticians, Ilaria or Brittany!
