Long term Rhinoplasty and Chin Implant Results

Dr. Agarwal was grateful to be able to see this lovely woman, 6 years after he performed a rhinoplasty with chin augmentation using a permanent chin implant. She is thrilled with her long term results, which have held up well over time.

Rhinoplasty and revision rhinoplasty are the most challenging cosmetic procedures performed in facial plastic surgery and one of Dr. Agarwal's specialties.

VASER liposuction with Renuvion skin tightening patient example

Dr. Casey Holmes used advanced VASER liposuction technology with Renuvion skin tightening to remove excess fat and contour this patient's waist and midsection. She is shown 6 weeks post-op after abdominal wall contouring using these devices. Fat is removed using ultrasonic vibrations and liposuction, and then a Renuvion probe is inserted under the skin to heat the skin and tighten the loose skin. She will continue to notice skin tightening effects from the Renuvion over the next 6 months of her healing.

Subnasal upper lip for long term rejuvenation of the aging upper lip

This is a beautiful 73-year-old woman who is shown 2.5 years after Dr. Agarwal performed a subnasal upper lip lift with bilateral outer upper lip advancement and an UpliftTM revision lower face and neck lift with platysmaplasty and submandibular gland reduction. The distance from her nose to upper lip had lengthened and there was minimal vermilion show of her upper lip. The subnasal upper lip lift augmented the central upper lip while the outer lip advancement lifted the outer corners. This improved the upper lip to lower lip proportions, with well hidden scars. When performed as a stand alone procedure, an upper lip lift is often performed awake in the office with local anesthesia to numb the area. When performed in conjunction with other facial rejuvenation procedures, then it is often performed in the operating room with anesthesia.
